*Where? EPAC (Lilly House)

1/24 Summer Internships

What plans are you making for the summer of 2012? Do they include learning a new skill, making new friends, or testing out a career path? If so, please attend this informational session to learn about resources available to help you identify potential internships throughout the United States and abroad.

2/7 Academic Tips for Studying and Communicating with Faculty

How are those New Year's resolutions playing out in regard to more focused and more efficient study for your courses? Students return in January determined to make a fresh start and spend more time on course work and getting academic work done early. They are inspired to establish good communication with faculty because they know it can improve their academic standing and reputation. If you haven't quite jumped in and made that happen, come to this session that will identify some concrete strategies for improvement.

2/21 Taking the Right Notes

Are you sure you are getting all the right notes down? Are you using the same technique for all your courses and want to know if that is effective? Join Amber from the Learning Center as we discuss the different forms of note taking and why a different form might work better for you.

4/3 Choosing a Major & Planning for your Sophomore Year

Are you still undecided? Want to be prepared for next year? At this session, speakers will help you strengthen your decision-making process, examine the unique challenges that sophomores face, as well as identify special opportunities that sophomores may want to consider.

4/17 Planning for Off-Campus Study*

Do you want to make off-campus study a core component of your Wooster education? If so, you need to begin making careful plans. In this session, Jessica Duplaga, Director of Off-Campus Studies will walk students through the entire planning process. Returnees will also be present to discuss their experiences.
