Barracks (Housing)
SEE ALSO: BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS—Music Hall

Note: 1870s-1881/1882 housing for men was called the “barracks” and included a house on the SE corner of Bever and Spring streets. With Karl Merz’s arrival on campus about 1882, that house became the Music Hall and Karl Merz took up residence on the top floor. (See Wooster of the Middle West, Volume I.)

X-Refs.
Barracks (Military) (located both east of Holden and on the site where Freedlander Theatre is currently located)
Note: Not to be confused with the early housing for students that was located in the old Music Hall. Military barracks were erected in the 1940s to house G.I.s and returning veterans.
