President McCall

Samuel Peppers '25

Samuel Peppers '25 is a political science major and religious studies minor. While at the College, he has been on the board of multiple clubs, including serving as president of Model UN, and holding positions in the Jewish Student Organization, and the Slavic, Eastern European, and Central Asian Culture Club. He pursued interests in music, religious studies, and Middle Eastern politics. Economic sanctions have been a focal point of his studies, and his Independent Study focused on authoritarian governments' responses to sanctions. After graduation, he will be moving to Washington, D.C.

Mesky Brhane '89

Mesky Brhane '89 is the regional director for the planet department in the Middle East and North Africa (MENA) region at the World Bank, where she leads the formulation of the bank's strategy, engagements, and all lending, technical assistance, partnerships, and policy advisory work for sustainable development across the region. Her portfolio covers a broad range of areas, including agriculture and food, climate change, environment, natural resources, the blue economy, social sustainability and inclusion, and water. Brhane oversees a lending portfolio of $8 billion, serving nearly 300 million people and leads a team of 120 professionals across Washington, D.C. and 10 country offices.

With over 25 years of experience in international development and poverty alleviation, Brhane has worked in the Middle East, East Asia, South Asia, and Africa, shaping sustainable development initiatives in diverse country contexts. Prior to her current role, she held several key leadership positions in urban development, resilience, disaster risk management, and land administration.

At Wooster, Brhane majored in English and French and credits her liberal arts education for preparing her for each step on her path to a successful career in international development. After graduating from the College, she received a Fulbright Fellowship to teach English in Paris and earned her doctorate in political science from the University of Chicago. After two post-doctoral research and teaching positions, Brhane started working at the World Bank in 2004. Fluent in Amharic and French and speaking Arabic, Brhane's global expertise and leadership continue to make a significant impact in sustainable development worldwide, particularly in advancing initiatives that aim to eradicate poverty and promote economic resilience.

Rev. Matthew Davis

A parent to Wooster students in the classes of 2024 and 2025, Rev. Matthew Davis is pastor at Mendocino Presbyterian Church, a historic carpenter gothic style church serving its community in Northern California since the 1850s. Leading the congregation for the last ten years, Davis has built upon a traditional worship with a leadership development approach focused on "giving thanks" and "blessing."

He sees ministry as an invitation to build community, sharing one's gifts, exploring God's world, and making a difference, whether by hiking the Grand Canyon with students "Looking at Life with God from the Top-Down and the Bottom-Up" or confronting the devastating wildfires in California by developing a herd of 80 goats and sheep called "Holy Goats: Your Fire Prevention Angels." When band was cut at the local public school for lack of funding, he introduced a classical guitar program that has enabled over 400 students to learn how to read and play music at a high level.

Davis earned his master's degree in divinity at Princeton Theological Seminary in 1997 and completed his Bachelor of Arts degree with majors in anthropology and religious studies at Washington University in St. Louis in 1993. His son Hudson Davis '24 majored in geology at Wooster, and Drew Skylar Davis '25 is a communications studies major with a minor in environmental studies.

Academic Regalia

The gathering of The College of Wooster family is the expression of a living tradition. The wearing of caps and gowns is an English custom which goes back to the 12th century and is still used in many nations today. Over the years, the apparel of scholars has evolved to differentiate the degrees of learning and areas of study. From the gown, cap, tassel, and hood, it is possible to distinguish the institution from which the wearer graduated, the field of learning in which the degree was earned, and the level of degree: bachelor's, master's, or doctoral.

Gowns, which are typically black but are frequently quite colorful, fall in straight lines from a fairly elaborate yoke. The level of degree is indicated by the cut of the gown. The bachelor's gown is relatively simple with bell-shaped sleeves. The master's gown is somewhat fuller, and its sleeves are longer and squared at the ends. The doctor's gown has velvet panels down the front and around the neck, and the bell-shaped sleeves are decorated with three horizontal velvet bars.

Caps may be either mortarboard or tam in style, though generally the tam is reserved for doctoral degrees. The tassel may be the color of the major field of learning in which the degree has been granted, or the tassel may be black for any degree. Gold tassels are worn only by doctors.

The hood is the most distinctive and colorful part of the academic regalia. Hoods are lined with silk in the colors of the institution granting the degree. The color of the velvet binding on the hood designates the discipline in which the degree is held—white for Arts, Letters, and Humanities; green for Medicine; pink for Music; dark blue for Philosophy; golden yellow for Science; scarlet for Theology, etc. The hood shows by its size, width of trimming, and shape, the level of the highest degree held. Of the three hood styles, the doctor's is the most elaborate. The bachelor's hood is rarely used, and doctor's hoods are slightly longer than master's degree hoods.

Colleges and universities often add their own traditions to the gown. At Wooster, a single old gold cord indicates departmental honors. Black and gold cords indicate Phi Beta Kappa membership. Kente stoles symbolize the rich history of domestic students of color, and the country flag stoles represent the home country or identity of graduating seniors. Lavender stoles acknowledge achievements and contributions of lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, queer, intersex, asexual (LGBTQIA+), and ally students to the College.

Flowers for the 2025 Commencement have been given in memory of Esther Mae Graber '34, director of food service from 1947 to 1970, and at the time of her retirement in June 1977, manager of The Wooster Inn.
